

Foreword

Dubai International Arbitration Centre is known as one of the successful arbitration centres in the Arab Region. It started issuing its magazine as one of its active contributions in the field of international arbitration, represented in the published researches, articles and reports. Thus, the magazine has been distinct and mature since its issuance.

Dubai International Arbitration Centre magazine is a periodical magazine published every three months in Arabic and English.

The rules applied by Dubai International Arbitration Centre added a distinctive characteristic thereto, as they are advanced rules, where the Centre re-considers such rules from time to time to remain responsive to the latest arbitration rules in different legal systems.

Recently, the arbitration rules of Dubai International Arbitration Centre have been issued under Decree No. 11 of 2007 and have become the applicable rules at present to replace the rules of 1994. The new rules acquire their enforceability and effectiveness, if adopted by the disputing parties, from a legislation issued by the competent authority. This feature distinguishes them from the rules of other arbitration centres in the different countries.

Dubai International Arbitration Centre allows all interested parties to resolve commercial disputes through arbitration upon becoming a fellow member of the Centre, which shall enable both the Centre and the acceding members to establish relationships based on membership links and allows specialists in the field of dispute resolution to accede to the centre. The said members shall become part of the most important elements that support the development of commercial arbitration in the Arab Region.

The Centre also plays a very significant role in training a group of those who are desirous to engage in international commercial arbitration issues with a view to increasing the number of specialists in the region in this area. In addition, the Centre organizes specialized international conferences in coordination with senior arbitration specialists in resolving international trade disputes through Arbitration.

While this is the case with Dubai International Arbitration Centre, then its magazine honestly reflects the importance of its role represented in the publication of serious legal researches and reports that reflect the latest developments in the international arena regarding international commercial arbitration.
